

Peter John Burkimsher <peterburk@gmail.com>

20 May 2014 17:52

To: HR@edom.com.tw

Edom Job Opportunities in Taiwan

---

Dear Edom HR,

Are there any job opportunities available at Edom in Taiwan? By distributing ICs from fabs in Taiwan to customers around the world, you are providing . I believe that my experience can add value to your company, and satisfy even the most demanding of your customers.

I plan to come to Taiwan for 12 months on a Working Holiday Programme visa from August 2014. I can arrange all the necessary paperwork, find my own accommodation, and purchase my own flight tickets.

In summer 2010, I worked for Wildmind (<http://www.techbang.com/posts/2789-onhandtv-mad-tv>), a startup iPhone app programming company in Xihu. I enjoyed my experience of living in Taiwan, and hoped to return. In July 2011, I graduated from Lancaster University in the UK with a first-class Masters degree in Electronic Systems Engineering. Since then, I've done similar internships and working holiday programmes around the world, as you can read on my résumé.

Currently I'm doing an internship in India for Essmart. This social enterprise distributes life-improving products to small shops in rural villages, such as solar lanterns and water filters. I am involved in testing these products, finding new ones as they become available, and writing an Android app to help sales staff to report their interactions with dealers. It is a satisfying and culturally-enriching internship, but I hope to return to the electronics industry in order to use my skills more appropriately.

It would be an honour to work at Edom, and help people find the ICs they need. Please let me know if an opportunity arises at your company!

Best regards,

Peter Burkimsher

<http://peterburk.github.com>

Peter Burki...ume \(1.2 MB\)